Drawing is his biggest passion, as it puts him in a calm state. He thinks outside the box and is super creative. He was in Children's Hospital in July for 16 days suffering from what started as an infection in the bone above his knee which became a staph infection that turned into sepsis, spreading everywhere. The situation looked dire, but he overcame and was released with 6 weeks of antibiotics and blood thinners. Now he is participating in 3 research studies. Reid wants to be a pilot when he grows up.

"Holiday Cheer" #2004 Greeting: Warm Holiday Wishes

Fortnite, PJ may be found swimming in a cold river before coming in for hot chocolate. He thinks his bird Fawkes, a pet cockatoo sporting pink and gray feathers, is the cutest bird ever. Like his sister Tessa, PJ has visited Children's Hospital Colorado for cardiology; food allergy diagnoses keep PJ away from peanuts, most tree nuts, and sesame seeds, although he does love chocolate milk (and Fortnite). A difficult thing for PJ this year was his older brother Myles passing away. They had so much fun playing together; some of their favorite activities together were playing Roblox, setting up prize games, and making YouTube videos. They will be bro-tastic brothers forever.
